Scott Delman is the Director of Publications at the Association for Computing Machinery (ACM). Prior to joining ACM, Scott served in a number of senior management positions at Springer and Kluwer, including Vice President for Publishing at Kluwer Academic Publishers and Vice President for Business Development at Springer.

In addition to his current role at ACM, Scott is actively involved in the governance of a number of non-profit scholarly publishing industry organizations, including Crossref (Currently serving as Board Chairman), arXiv (Member Advisory Board), as a Member of the Portico Advisory Committee, and as a Member of the Society Publishers Coalition Council (SocPC).